Where we come from...

Aigio is a coastal city of about 30,000 inhabitants

It is located in the western part of Greece and belongs to the prefecture of Peloponnese

It is the 2nd biggest city of the district, after Patras [Patras is the the biggest Greek port to the west, connecting Greece with Italy]

Distances:

Aigio-Patras: 40 km

Aigio-Athens: 175 km

Sightseeing of Aigio

Beautiful seaside town, overlooking the Corinthian bay!

Sightseeing of Aigio

The imposing and biggest temple of the city, Panagia Faneromeni is the metropolitan temple, work of Ernst Ziller

The 172 stone stairs connect up town with down town and the historic center

Sightseeing of Aigio

The patron saint of Aigio, Panagia Tripiti, is built on a rock 30 m high from the sea surface in a cave! The beauty of the landscape is extraordinary!

Archaeological museum, a real gem work also by Ernst Ziller

And of courseculture, life, food....

AGRICULTURE

Excellent produce, due to the favorable climatic conditions prevailing in the area, as well as the fertile soil.

- Raisin (Vostitsa)
- Olive oil
- Citrus fruits
- Rodozahari (sweet made with rose petals)

Our school
